

OUTLINES.

The Supreme Court of the United States yesterday decided against the Atlantic Coast Line in what is known as the Selma (N. C.) connection case. The court at Washington affirmed the decision of the North Carolina Supreme Court and holds in effect that the North Carolina Corporation Commission can compel railroads to put on trains and make schedules to accommodate the traveling public. At St. Paul, Minn., yesterday the United States Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed the judgment of a District Court in Missouri against the Armour Packing Company, Swift & Co., Morris & Co., and the Cudahy Packing Co., which were fined $15,000 each for accepting rebates on meat products; the court holds that it is a violation of the Elkins act and declares that the violation is committed whether a rebate is paid direct or by subterfuge or trick. In Philadelphia yesterday Martha Korals, a comely Prussian girl, was shot and instantly killed by Franz Endrulat who committed suicide; the girl refused to marry him in Europe and he almost slew her with a hatchet and cut his throat but got well and served a term in prison; she fled to America, he found her and closed his desperate love affair in tragedy. In Macon, Ga., yesterday L. D. Strong killed H. D. Smith against whom a grand jury had found an indictment for wronging Strong's sister. The first of the international boat races at the Jamestown Exposition was rowed yesterday between foreign and American packies, the Yankees coming off winners. Near Liege Belgium yesterday flood in a coal mine cut off 200 miners but all escaped except 18 who perished. A concrete bridge across Little Otter river between Roanoke and Lynchburg collapsed on Sunday, dammed up the river and 250,000 damage has resulted, with fears for the safety of the people along the river where the dam gives way. The contest between Mayor McClellan and Charles F. Murphy for control of Tammany Hall, New York, has been compromised. New York markets: Money on call, 2 1/2 to 3 per cent.

STRAWBERRY TRAINS

Movement Has Begun in Earnest and Prices Generally are Very Good.

24 CAR LOADS SATURDAY

Sixteen to Twenty Cents Per Quart
Paid on the Platform at Chadbourn
Yesterday—Conditions Generally are Promising.

The strawberry trains for the movement of East Carolina's greatest truck crop are now going and in the centre of the region where the luscious fruit is grown all is hurry and excitement in rushing the product to market. Nearly every train moving into the Chadbourn section is crowded with pickers and though the crop is conceded to be from 25 to 40 per cent short there is no surfeit of labor and all are finding ready employment. Saturday's shipments amounted to 24 solid carloads exclusive of express, and yesterday it is believed that nearly 50 carloads of the fruit went out. This figure is expected to be increased from day to day until the last of the week when the height of the shipping season will have been reached.

Prices usually are good and thus far there has been no complaint of transportation or the lack of refrigeration. In fact, these arrangements for moving the berries were made before the crop was cut short by the freeze and it is not expected that there will be any difficulty in the movement of the crop that will be made. The plant at Chadbourn has been shut down, the Armour car line having had enough ice stored for emergency purposes to take care of the season's shipments after the damage to the cars. New York yesterday noted berries from 18 to 28 cents, many were sold to dealers yesterday on the platform at Chadbourn at 15 and 16 per crate of 24 quarts, which is 16 to 20 cents net. These figures are thought to be very satisfactory to the grower and if they can be maintained the season may not be unprofitable after all. There seems to be a good steady demand for the fruit and the optimistic growers are complaining on this score. Last week some of the quotations for good quality of berries ranged as high as 40 cents.

The distribution of Saturday's shipments was as follows: New York, 10 cars; Boston, five; Philadelphia, one; and one each to Newark, N. J., Moore, Providence, Springfield, Chester and Pittsburg.

MONEY ON THE SPOT.

Jamestown Exposition.

The characteristic enterprise of the Jamestown Exposition, the National Savings and Trust Company, of the younger but most aggressive of Wilmington's banking institutions, announces that arrangements have been perfected by which the payment of the Carolina may have all its cashed immediately on the day of the Exposition, without delay or inconvenience, the visitor is at the big show for any reason that he or she may have, or finds it inconvenient to carry any large amount of money. The Carolina has made a connection with a bank that is here with no trouble in having their checks cashed. The arrangement will be made in the Manufacturers' Liberal Arts Building and all will receive polite and attention, however small. This arrangement will be very convenient for patrons of the Exposition not only in but out of Wilmington where it already has a clientele.

The distribution of Saturday's shipments was as follows: New York, 10 cars; Boston, five; Philadelphia, one; and one each to Newark, N. J., Moore, Providence, Springfield, Chester and Pittsburg.

Connection for All Points.

Mr. L. O. Reavis, city ticket agent of the Seaboard Air Line in this city, has received an official circular from headquarters in Portsmouth, advising him of the changes that will go into effect on the system beginning next Sunday morning. Official notice of these changes will be given in a few days in the company's advertising matter. Wilmington people and those in this section are chiefly concerned with the service that will be afforded during the summer on the old Carolina Central division of the road. These changes are as follows:

Train No. 39, which heretofore left Wilmington for Hamlet at 2:50 P. M., will after Sunday not leave until 4 P. M., arriving at Hamlet at 9 P. M. and connecting there with train 41 for Monroe, leaving there at 11:35 P. M. and arriving at Charlotte at 12:15 A. M.

Train No. 40, which heretofore left Charlotte for Wilmington at 4:15 A. M., will hereafter leave at 5:20 A. M., arriving at Monroe at 8:10 A. M., consolidating with No. 38 and leaving Hamlet after 20 minutes for breakfast at 9:45 A. M., reaching Wilmington at 2:45 P. M. instead of 12:40 as at present.

The early morning train, No. 45, which now leaves at 4:20 A. M., will leave beginning Sunday at 4:00 A. M., arriving at Hamlet at 8:25, leaving 20 minutes later and arriving at Monroe at 10:35, making close connection for Atlanta and other points. This train arrives at Charlotte at 11:30 A. M. and remains over there until 5 P. M. when it leaves for Rutherfordton, arriving there at 9 P. M.

Train No. 44, which is the late train on the Seaboard into Wilmington, will leave Rutherfordton at 6 A. M., arriving at Charlotte at 10 A. M., remaining there until 5:30 P. M., arriving at Monroe at 8:30 P. M., leaving 20 minutes later and arriving at Wilmington at 1:15 A. M. instead of 12:35 A. M. as at present. At Hamlet all trains make close connections for all points on the Seaboard system.

MRS. KATE STOLTER MIDDLETON

Sad Death Yesterday Afternoon at

Warsaw—Funeral Here Today

Disrespectfully sad was the death of Mrs. Kate Stoltz Middleton, wife of Mr. F. G. Middleton, a prominent young business man of Warsaw, and a daughter of the late John F. Stoltz, of this city, which occurred yesterday afternoon at the family home in Warsaw about 3:30 o'clock. News reached members of the family in Wilmington by long distance telephone soon after the death and everywhere the news was received with the most sincere sorrow. Mrs. Middleton was the bride of a little more than a year and was universally loved and admired here where her life had been spent. No particulars of the death were received by the distressed relatives here yesterday. The remains will be brought to Wilmington on the 10:18 A. M. train this morning and will be taken to the residence of her brother-in-law, Mr. John H. Hintze, Seventh and Walnut streets, whence the funeral will be this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, thence to St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church and Oakdale cemetery where the interment will take place.

Mrs. Middleton is survived by two brothers, Messrs. W. F. of this city, and Henry Stoltz, of Norfolk, also 5 sisters, Mrs. John H. Hintze, Mrs. Edward A. Nelson, Misses Nina Ruth and Fannie Stoltz, all of this city. They have the tenderest sympathy of all in their bereavement.

THE BANKS ARE POPULAR

Innovation by People's Savings Bank

Proving Quite Interesting.

The innovation in local banking circles, introduced by the People's Savings Bank in making a general distribution of pocket devices, for small change, stimulating the habit of systematic saving by the smaller investors of the city, jumped into instant popular favor yesterday and at the main office in The Orton building and over at the branch bank on North Fourth street, the men at the window were kept busy all during banking hours giving out the little banks and registering the names of the recipients. The distribution will continue this week, the bank having purchased a large supply of the handsome little pocket pieces, which are both useful and ornamental. The success of the venture is already demonstrated and the possessor of one of the little devices will be pleased with the result of the experiment in putting aside small change, if only they will give the plan a trial. The banks are free for the asking, the only condition being that the recipient deposit with himself or herself, in the little receptacle the small sum of twenty-five cents.

Uniforms for the Police.

Chairman J. A. Karr, of the police committee, advises that bids will be received until noon, May 12th, for furnishing uniforms for the men of the department. The bids will be received for the new police committee under the incoming administration as the need of the uniforms is imperative and it will be too late for the new committee to call for bids after it takes charge. The bids received under Chairman Karr's advertisement will be turned over to the new committee, by which the contract will be awarded.

BODY IS IDENTIFIED

Remains of Young W. C. Lindley
Drowned at Middle Sound
Two Weeks Ago.

FOUND SATURDAY ON BEACH

Party Returned Sunday From Hampstead, Pender County—No Trace of Lloyd Andrews—Casket Shipped Home.

The body of the young white man found on the beach near Hampstead, Pender county, Saturday morning was identified Saturday night by the Wilmington friends who went to the scene in response to a telegram, as that of Mr. W. C. Lindley, who with young Mr. Lloyd Andrews was drowned by being swept out to sea in a launch at Middle Sound last Friday two weeks ago. Nothing as yet has been heard of the body of Mr. Andrews. The remains of young Lindley were brought to Wilmington Sunday morning by Mr. Marvin Brimmer, embalmer at Yopp's undertaking establishment, who accompanied the party, and were sent on the afternoon train to the former home of the young man at Powder Springs, near Atlanta, Ga. Brief funeral services were conducted from the building of the undertaker, on Princess street, by Rev. A. D. McClure, D. D., pastor of Saint Andrew's Presbyterian Church, just prior to the shipment of the body.

The body on the beach was found partially imbedded in the sand and had probably lain there for a day before its discovery. The face and scalp were eaten away by creatures in the ocean but the remains were easily identified by Mr. T. N. Thomas and Mr. G. A. Dalley, friends of the young man who went the long distance across the country for this purpose.

The body was about twice normal size but the clothing and articles of apparel were easily identified by the friends. Mr. Lindley's coat was missing and one shoe from his foot, an Oxford tie, were gone. This would seem to indicate that the two young men in the boat saw their danger before they were drowned and were preparing as best they could for the battle with the waves by removing their clothing. The afternoon they were drowned was very cold and it is thought that in the water they soon became numb and had to give up. The corner of Pender county had been notified of the finding of the body and had viewed the remains before the Wilmington parties reached the scene but upon their arrival Mr. Brimmer at once took charge and prepared for bringing the body to the city, which was done. The party returned to the city about 10 o'clock Sunday morning and the remains were immediately prepared for shipment to the former home of the young man, his parents having been notified of the finding of the body. The point at which the body was found is near Topsail Sound about 12 miles from the inlet out of which the boat is supposed to have been swept.

The funeral services Sunday afternoon were attended by a number of friends of the young man in this city and a number of the members of Wilmington Lodge of Odd Fellows, in which the deceased with his comrade, Mr. Andrews, had taken two degrees shortly before they were drowned. A handsome floral design was laid upon the casket by that fraternity and the pallbearers were from the order and from the office force of the Life and Health Insurance Company with which he was engaged as follows: Honorary, Messrs. T. G. Landen and E. D. Craig; active, Messrs. T. N. Thomas, G. A. Dalley, J. L. Middleton, H. C. Hamilton, W. C. Smith, and W. J. Mallen. The remains went forward by Express over the Seaboard Air Line.

Mr. Lindley was 20 years and 20 days old at the time of his drowning and was well liked by all who knew him here. Both he and Mr. Andrews were held in the highest esteem by Mr. Thomas by whom they were employed while in the city.

BAT SMOKED CIGARETTE.

One of Leather-Winged Variety Did

Peculiar Stunt Sunday Night.

A bat, one of the ordinary leather-winged species that dart here and there after insects about the electric lights on quiet nights, did a peculiar stunt for the entertainment of half a dozen or more late strollers about Front and Princess streets Sunday night.

One of the pesky little creatures was shooting here and there close down to the ground when one of the bunch on the corner flipped a lighted cigarette high up in the air. In an instant the bat, doubtless with visions of a sweet morsel of lightning bug, darted at the burning cigarette and in the twinkling of an eye had it firmly in his teeth, where he was either unable to turn it loose or was frightened out of his wits by the smoke which the cigarette created. At any rate he cut two or three figures in the ozone just above the crowd and then with his "smoke" still in his mouth, he darted down the street toward the river, giving, no doubt first thought to water in case of fire. About half way down the block, the cigarette was dropped by the leather-wing, who disappeared from the vicinity of Front and Princess in short order. The crowd roared at the joke played on the despised mammal, commonly reported to be a breeder of disease and cock roaches.

DR. WELLS IN CHARLESTON.

Addressed Y. M. C. A. Meeting in

Palmetto Metropolis Sunday.

Rev. J. M. Wells, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, was in Charleston Sunday afternoon and spoke at the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. there. The News and Courier of yesterday thus speaks of his address:

"The Rev. J. M. Wells, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, at Wilmington, was the guest of the Young Men's Christian Association yesterday afternoon. He delivered a very able and interesting address to men at 5:30 o'clock. His subject was 'Service.' Dr. Wells was forceful and attention-compelling in his address, and at the same time what he had to say was very practical and abounded in common sense suggestions, which were quickly understood and appreciated by his hearers. Dr. Wells will always receive a cordial welcome here."

MARION BUTLER STANDS WAY IN.

The Durham Herald in a paragraph makes this remark:

"If the President expects the Republicans in North Carolina to keep in line he should tell them who is boss—Mr. Butler or Mr. Adams."

If a Washington special on Friday to the New York Times is correct President Roosevelt is not keeping North Carolina Republicans in the dark as to whom he regards as boss in North Carolina. The Times' special shows that Butler stands way in with Roosevelt and that the former Populist Senator is his Southern campaign lieutenant. The fact is the Star has long ago tumbled to the fact that Butler was cutting more ice with Roosevelt than any other North Carolina Republican. We recently declared that if the truth were known that accounts for the alleged coolness between Chairman Adams and Mr. Butler.

That President Roosevelt is making a regular campaign to secure the nomination of a Presidential candidate to suit him admits of no doubt. It crops out on all sides and the Times' special on Friday furnishes more evidence of the fact. Says the correspondent:

"It has become clear that the Roosevelt administration recognizes in the South its weak point, politically speaking, and is addressing itself with its usual energy to the capture of that region. Assistant Postmaster General Hitchcock's Southern trip has been followed by new developments."

The first is that ex-Senator Marion Butler, of North Carolina, has been chosen as the Administration General for the South. The second is that in at least one Southern State, and presumably others, the same tactics have been employed as in Wadsworth's New York district and in Ohio—namely, the employment of Federal patronage to crush the President's enemies. The State where this is known to be the case is Tennessee, where the Evans faction has been recognized as the administration organization, and the Brownlow men are being put out of office as fast as possible. Brownlow is under the ban for the same reason that Wadsworth is in New York and Foraker and Dick are in Ohio—that is, he is supposed to be in the plan to nominate a 'reactionary' candidate for President and thus thwart Mr. Roosevelt's policies.

"Marion Butler was elected to the Senate as a Populist. He was elected, however, by a combination between Republicans and Populists, and in his State Populism was on a different footing from what it was in Kansas and the Populist States of the West. In the Western States Populism was a blow aimed at the Republican party; in the South it was aimed at the Democratic party, and Republicans were its natural allies. Since Butler left the Senate he has been practically a Republican and thoroughly a Roosevelt man."

"He was the youngest man in the Senate when he served there, and was regarded as a man of brains and political skill. His success in breaking down for a while the strongly entrenched Democratic party of North Carolina has given to many persons the idea that he is well equipped to advise the administration on Southern matters. He no longer lives in North Carolina, but practices law in Washington. He has never lost touch with his home State, however."

"It will be recalled that in 1902, when the President was planning to be nominated in 1904, James B. Clarkson, of New York, was made general manager and delegate-getter in the South. The position which Butler now holds is similar to that then held by Clarkson."

"Whenever a Southern Republican comes to town to discuss the political situation with the President, Secretary Cortelyou, or Assistant Postmaster General Hitchcock, he is always sent to Butler and instructed to report to him."

So we see that Butler is the outer guardian to the White House. Southern Republicans who want to see the President or wish to ask anything at his hands, have to make their wants known through Butler, whose recommendation, or condemnation, it is presumed, will go at the White House.

Mr. Tom Pence on Saturday telegraphed this from Washington to the Raleigh News and Observer:

"Former Senator Marion Butler will neither confirm nor deny the story published in the New York Times this morning to the effect that he has been designated as general delegate-getter in the South for the Roosevelt administration. He refused to be interviewed on the subject by a number of newspaper men who called on him, but he gives a terrific shout for Roosevelt, apparently in competition with National Committeeman Duncan, who gave out a statement a few days ago. He says Roosevelt is the man who will be nominated and elected next year, not for a third term, but for a second term. He says that Roosevelt has had but one term, the other being the unexpired term of McKinley."

"Butler is just back from Greensboro and he gave out the statement that he saw evidences in North Carolina that money was being used in the State to organize the delegates against the administration. He refused to say by whom, but he declared that it would be of no avail as the State would be in the Roosevelt column."

"There is much talk in Washington today of Butler's being the Southern delegate-getter. The administration is exceedingly active to elect a successor to Roosevelt, or elect Roosevelt himself, it is not certain which. The putting of Butler in charge of the Southern field, if it be true, is an indication that the Roosevelt crowd is getting busy."

PLENTY OF HOTELS AT NORFOLK

Some doubt has been expressed whether Norfolk could well take care of the immense number of visitors who are likely to take in the Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition. It would be hardly supposed that Norfolk would let a big thing like the exposition slip up on her and make no preparation for it. We did not think Norfolk was built that way and we are glad to hear from the Norfolk Landmark that we are correct. By way of assurance to the thousands of visitors to the exposition, the Landmark says:

"As we all know, hotel after hotel has been built here especially for the exposition business, and Norfolk is now better equipped with hotels than any other city below Mason and Dixon's line—we mean real hotels. Of course, all the visitors will not be quartered at the hotels. There will be a surplus to be accommodated in private houses, just as there has been at every previous exposition, not excluding that held in gigantic Chicago. The fact is that the hotel equipment of Norfolk is one of the marvels of the exposition. The enterprise shown in building new hotels and lodging houses, of a modern and creditable kind, is a thing of which this city has a right to boast, and at which many visitors have wondered."

SHOUTING FOR ROOSEVELT.

Republican State Chairman Adams and the other North Carolina leaders have probably too long neglected to get on the Roosevelt band wagon, which means the same as standing for any President candidate whom the President may ant. Butler and Duncan seem to have stolen a march on the boys. According to something we copy from the Washington Post, to be found elsewhere in this morning's Star, Butler is proving his loyalty to Roosevelt by going back from North Carolina and confirming stories of the conspiracy, while he and Duncan are both shouting for Roosevelt.

The Charlotte Observer says about the pair:

"The manner in which Chairman Adams and National Committeeman Duncan, for the old State Republican organization, and Mr. Marion Butler, for a brand new machine of his own construction, are vying with each other in efforts to gain the delegate-seeking administration's favor by protestations of undying loyalty combined with ability to deliver the goods, is a sight to behold. We are reminded of nothing so much as the way every school boy has—or used to have—of trying to pop his fingers louder than the next boy when the teacher asked the class a question not altogether dark to his apprehension."

CURRENT COMMENT.

—When the roll is called Bryan will be there. And he will not nominate Roosevelt.—Asheville Citizen.

—Squire Allen, one of the county commissioners, is opposed to the bond issue, but Squire Allen is no longer running the thing.—Durham Herald.

—Except to the inner circle there is no difference between a conspiracy to defeat a candidate in 1908 and to elect one in 1904.—Waynesville Courier.

—"Have all the fun that is coming to you," is said to be one of Mr. Roosevelt's mottoes. And when it isn't coming to him he goes after it.—Washington Post.

—If the Speaker of the Arkansas Assembly really possesses evidence sufficient to send the bootleggers and lobbyists in that House to jail, it is his duty to do so instead of threatening to do it "if they don't quit."—Brooklyn Citizen.

—We are glad to see that Senator Latimer is at work on immigration for the South. The junior Senator does not say much and is not in the limelight very often, but he certainly does accomplish what he goes at and he will get something out of this work for South Carolina unless we are very much mistaken.—Florence Times.

Two expert or experimentalists, in air navigation, one of them in the service of the German Government, and the other a member of an aero club, have made a voyage in an ordinary balloon from the suburbs of Berlin to a point in Leicestershire, a county in southern-central England. The distance is some six hundred miles, and was accomplished in twenty-four hours.—Rochester Herald.

—John Temple Graves, originator of the idea that Bryan should nominate Roosevelt, has publicly spoken some more words—6,000 of them, according to a dispatch from Chicago. Among the number were these: "One word from Bryan would send Roosevelt omnipotent to the White House. One word from Roosevelt would make Bryan President." Let us assume Mr. Graves' conclusions to be correct, for the sake of argument. Then, if Mr.

Bryan should speak the word, and Mr. Roosevelt should also speak it, it is quite evident that the resulting complication would have the hypothetical one resulting from the impact of an irresistible force upon an immovable body skunk to a horrible death.—Albany Journal (Rep.).

—Mr. Bryan now weighs 234 3-4 pounds. The truth came out at the tavern of Hale, Wells River, Vermont, which is headquarters for the New England Fat Men's Club. No man of girth escapes the scrutiny of mine host, who has the club's interests at heart. Mr. Bryan was led up to the scales and bravely paid the initiation fee. Mr. Bryan's fighting weight was 165 pounds in 1896, when his career as a Presidential candidate, lecturer, and preacher began. Prosperity has filled him out. He is become too fat for war, but is a fine figure of a man for peace congresses. Hard times he can never talk about again. As well might Jack Falstaff discourse of soup kitchens and a scarcity of sack. Mr. Bryan may be President yet—president of the National Society of Aft Men and one of its amplest specimens.—New York Sun.

—Smartly—Brown's wife makes all of her own hats. Mrs. Smartly—Well, I don't care as long as I don't have to wear them.—Detroit Free Press.

—"Pa, what a political leader?" "A man who is able to see which way the crowd is going and follows with loud whoops in that direction."—Chicago Record-Herald.

—Miss Knox—Yes, he actually said your cheeks were like roses. Miss Passay (coolly delighted)—Oh! come, now, that's laying it on pretty thick. Miss Knox—Yes, he remarked about that, too.—Life.

—"Aren't you ashamed to be seen about with that wretched cigarette in your mouth?" asked the lady of the misguided youth. "There's some cheaper nor these," was the inignant reply.—London Evening Standard.

Doing Business Again.

"When my friends thought I was about to take leave of this world, on account of indigestion, nervousness and general debility," writes A. A. Chisholm, Treadwell, N. Y., "and when it looked as if there was no hope left, I was persuaded to try Electric Bitters, and I rejoice to say that they are curing me. I am now doing business again as of old, and am still gaining daily." Best tonic medicine on earth. Guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy, druggist. 50c.

It is worth considerable to any citizen of Wilmington to know how to be cured of painful, annoying and itching piles. Know then that Doan's Ointment is a positive remedy for all itches of the skin, for piles, eczema, etc. One application relieves and soothes. Read this testimony of its merit:

J. S. King, clerk on Market street, residing at 815 Orange street, Wilmington, N. C., says: "I used Doan's Ointment and found it to be a great remedy for itching hemorrhoids. It acted like a charm in my case. I tried all kinds of remedies, but until I used Doan's Ointment I could get nothing to give me positive relief. It is a splendid preparation and you are welcome to use my name as one who says so. I obtained it at R. R. Bellamy's drug store."

THE POWER OF STEAM.

Many May See But It Takes Gentle Realize.

When James Watt saw the steam causing the kettle lid to jump up and down he said: "There must be power in that steam that it can lift such weight."

There was. Millions prior to him had seen the same phenomenon and regarded it as an unexplained mystery.

Recent scientific research has put its finger on the "cause" of Dandruff, Falling Hair, and consequent Baldness, and has unearthed a tiny germ which eats the life from the roots of human hair.

Newbro's Herpicide destroys this germ and consequently restores the hair to its natural state. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

MARION BUTLER MAKES DISCOVERY

After Trip to North Carolina Former Senator Reports Traces of Anti-Administration Conspiracy.

(Washington Post.)

That "politics makes strange bed fellows" is being exemplified in the present alliance between President Roosevelt and former Senator Marion Butler, of North Carolina. Mr. Butler will be remembered as the chairman of the national committee of the Populist party at the time that unique organization was in its heyday. In those days a Populist felt toward a Republican as the old boy is said to feel toward holy water. According to the political gossip of the day, Mr. Butler is said to be one of the missionaries the President is sending through the South to secure some administration delegations to the national convention.

Mr. Butler has just come back from a trip down South and brings some stories of his discovery in the South of traces of the alleged conspiracy of the money power to defeat the President's wishes. He says the opposition is doing everything it can, with the aid of money and shrewd agents to undermine the administration, but he is confident the fell conspiracy will be defeated.

Renewed attention of the politicians is attracted to the situation in the South by reason of the alleged efforts of the administration to provide for contesting delegations to the national convention in case it falls out that the Southern States send any number of delegations antagonistic to the President's desires. The significance of this reported move is declared to be found in the fact that the administration is said to expect to control the national committee through its officers and present personnel, and as the national committee makes up the temporary roll of the convention the advantage of having some contesting delegations handy is very apparent.

The politicians look for a lively contest in the national committee for its control by the respective candidates for the Presidential nomination. At present it is supposed to be a "Roosevelt committee" from the vice chairman and the secretary clear down the line.

SAW GEN. JACKSON FALL IN BATTLE

Interesting Story of Federal Veteran Who is Visiting Asheville—Was Within Thirty Yards of Confederate Chieftain.

(Charlotte Observer.)

Asheville, April 28.—A. J. Musser, of Columbus, Pa., is a visitor to Asheville this week, a guest of James Wolfe in West Asheville. Mr. Musser is a banker of Columbus and an old-time friend of Mr. Wolfe. The two had not seen each other for 30 years until they met here this week. Mr. Musser was in the Union army during the Civil war and is an entertaining talker. He was at the Battle of the Wilderness when Gen. "Stonewall" Jackson received his fatal wound and in fact saw the great Southern chieftain fall. Mr. Musser says that the Confederate and Federal lines were so closely drawn on that eventful evening that the soldiers of the two armies in instances were mixed. Mr. Musser was lying within 30 yards of General Jackson when the Confederate fell. He heard some one say that General Jackson had been wounded and, in the twilight when the color of uniforms were not distinguishable, he turned to a soldier lying hard-by and inquired to what regiment he belonged. The man addressed was a rebel soldier and replied that he belonged to a certain Louisiana regiment. "When he told me that," said Mr. Musser, "I immediately realized that I was in the wrong pew and forthwith I rolled in the other direction." Mr. Musser will spend ten days or two weeks in West Asheville before returning to his home in Pennsylvania.

"Pneumonia's Deadly Work" had so seriously affected my right lung," writes Mrs. Fannie Connor, of Rural Route 1, Georgetown, Tenn., "that I coughed continuously night and day and the neighbors' prediction—consumption—seemed inevitable, until my husband brought home a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery which in my case proved to be the only REAL cough cure and restorer of weak, sore lungs." When all other remedies utterly fail, you may still win in the battle against lung and throat troubles with New Discovery, the REAL cure. Guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy, druggist. 50c. and $1.00 Trial bottle free.

Bitten By Spider.
Through blood poisoning caused by a spider bite, John Washington of Bosqueville, Tex., would have lost his leg, which became a mass of running sores, had he not been persuaded to try Bucklen's Arnica Salve. He writes: "The first application relieved, and four boxes healed all the sores." Heals every sore. 25c at

A Very Busy Man.
A school inspector went to investigate the case of a man who, although he could well afford to keep his children at school, had obtained labor certificates for them all and was taking frequent holidays while the poor little fellows worked to keep the home on.

To his wife's plea that the youngsters' wages were useful when "feather" was out of work the inspector replied:

"A mere quibble, ma'am. Your husband has constant work, but is too lazy to do it. His employer told me so."

"Then it's a wicked story, and I'm not particular who hears me say it!" cried the woman indignantly. "My husband is the busiest man in England, bar none. Why, he was up at day-break this mornin' teachin' my youngest lad to swim, an' he's walked ten miles across plowed fields to fly a pigeon an' won a bounce ball contest an' a boxin' match since dinner, an' now, to wind things up," she added as a final proof of her husband's amazing industry, "he's down in the wood yonder trainin' his dog to catch an' kill rabbits without leavin' the marks of his teeth on 'em. If you want more work than that crowded into a day, you must be a regular nigger driver."—London Tit-Bits.

When Buttons Were Big.
Bachant writes in his "Secret Memoirs," Nov. 18, 1786: "The mania for buttons is today extremely ridiculous. They are not only of enormous size, some of them as big as six pound crowns, but miniatures and pictures are made upon them, and this ornamentation is extremely costly. Some of them represent the medals of the twelve Caesars, others antique statues and still others the Metamorphoses of Ovid."

Isabe, in his biographical notes, says that when he came to Paris he worked for a living by making copies of Vanloos and Bouchers on the lids of snuffboxes and that for these medals he was paid from 6 to 8 francs each. "As it was still the fashion," he said, "to wear buttons as big as a five franc piece, upon which Cupids, flowers and landscapes were cut in cameo, I went into that business. I got 12 sous for each."—Paris Figaro.

VEGETABLE EXPRESS TRAINS.

Special Schedule Being Operated on W. & W. for Truck Shipments.

The Southern Express Company, for the better accommodation of its vegetable and strawberry business between Wilmington and Rocky Mount, on yesterday inaugurated a special express train out of Wilmington, leaving this city at 7:30 A. M. on a fast schedule. The train yesterday handled four cars of truck on the special train and will handle five cars today. It is expected that the shipments will continue to increase as the shippers learn of the inauguration of the earlier and faster service. This train makes connection at South Rocky Mount with the fast express on the main line of the A. C. L. to the North. While this train is operated, no express shipments of truck will be taken on the regular train leaving the city at 9:35 A. M. While few vegetables are now going forward from this section, the extra train will be a big accommodation to the berry growers and it is expected that this means of shipment will be taken wide advantage of.

PEACE CONGRESS HERE

State Organization Will be Perfected in Wilmington May 10th.

The Charlotte Observer of yesterday has the following of local interest in its Greensboro correspondence:

"Professor F. S. Blair, of Guilford College, has returned from New York, where he attended the meeting of the national peace congress, held in Carnegie Hall, April 14-17. He reports a most interesting meeting. He was made secretary of a meeting that is to be held in the State soon to perfect the State organization of the peace movement. The meeting will be held at Wilmington May 10, and the principal speaker will be Haynes Davis, the secretary of the International Association of Conciliation, who is a grandson of the late Judge Pearson."

Jamestown Exposition Bureau.

The Visitors' Bureau of Information in connection with the Jamestown Exposition, recently chartered at Wilmington, N. C., with capital stock of $15,000 and with headquarters at 215-216 Bank of Commerce building, has opened a branch office in this city at Sands' Temple Pharmacy. For a small consideration the prospective visitor to the exposition is given all necessary information as to stopping places, prices, etc., and from the several booths around Norfolk all information will be given to the stranger. Details of the plan may be had by applying at the branch office in this city.

—Mr. W. L. Bissinger has disposed of his interest in the Crescent Cigar Store, No. 209 Princess street, to his partner, Mr. M. D. Bright, who will conduct the business in the future for his own account. Mr. Bissinger has not yet decided what he will do.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Herring, Cottage No. 66, Delgado, have the sympathy of friends in the death of their infant daughter, Nellie May, aged two months, which occurred yesterday. The remains will be sent to Farmer's Turnout this morning for interment.

—Saturday's Fayetteville Observer says: "District Deputy J. F. Ferrell, of Raleigh, writes Mr. F. H. Tomlinson today that Grand Exalted Ruler Melvin has decided that Fayetteville can have an Elks lodge. Within sixty days a lodge of the B. P. O. E's will be instituted in Fayetteville."

—Monday's session of the police court yesterday was rather dull. Five plain drunks were let off with the costs. William Jones and James Wilson, colored, were adjudged not guilty of an affray. Mary Barnhill, colored, drunk and disorderly, was taxed with $5 including the costs.

—Justice Bornemann yesterday gave judgment in favor of E. J. Hardison against William Tate for "one red mule, one cart and harness, buggy and harness, two hogs and 150 logs timber." Tate gave security for possession of the property until he can pay the plaintiff $117, the amount in question.

—Arthur Clay, colored, was sentenced straight to 30 days on the roads by Justice Furlong yesterday on a charge of an assault and battery upon his wife. Upon completion of his road sentence he will be given a hearing for abandonment and non-support and if there is probable cause he will be bound to the higher court.

—Mr. Lee Greer, who has conducted a photograph studio in this city for several years and has made many friends both in a business and personal way, will leave this morning for Charleston, S. C., where he will be engaged in the same business. His friends here wish him much success in his new home.

—Within a short time Princess street will boast of five fruit and confectionery stores within a block of its intersection with Second street. These are and will be Plummer's, Carl B. Rehder Candy Company's, Edward A. Nelson, D. L. T. Capps and John Herlitos, the Greek, who is soon to open up in the stand formerly occupied by Misses Donnelly & King.

—Residents in the vicinity of Fifth and Grace streets are complaining of depredations at their residences by half-grown white boys, who, inspired by nothing more than pure, downright, mean devilment, have on two occasions torn flower pots from steps and from fences and thrown them into the street. Mr. James H. Taylor, Jr., and Dr. D. W. Bulluck have suffered worst in this respect. The citizens who are made the victims of such wanton destruction would be fully justified in taking the law into their own hands, which some of them threaten to do if the conduct is not stopped.

Carolina Yacht Club.

At a meeting of the governing board of the Carolina Yacht Club yesterday it was decided to open the handsome club house of the organization on Wrightsville beach on the 15th of May. The necessary repairs are being made to the property, the gangways and pagodas are being rebuilt to the water front and a most successful season is looked for. Mr. J. F. Gause has been re-elected superintendent and Mr. J. P. Walton janitor.

Popular prices are prevailing and it is expected that the audiences will increase from night to night.

A Case in Point.

A gentleman who appreciates the benefit to tax-payers that would result from a Recorder's Court calls the attention of the Star to the following illustration: Fred Howland, who is held on the double charge of carrying a concealed weapon and committing an assault with a deadly weapon, is now in jail where he will have been confined about three months when the next term of the Superior Court for the trial of criminal cases will be held. And all at an expense to New Hanover county that would be saved if the Recorder's Court were holding its daily sessions.

IS IT A BOYCOTT?

Colored People Do Not Take Kindly to "Jim Crow" Law.

It was noticed Saturday and Sunday especially that few colored people were patronizing the street cars of the city and several conductors on the line were asked yesterday what it meant. The information elicited by these inquiries was rather startling. With one accord the street car men said that since the new "Jim Crow" car law was put into effect the first of the month, requiring the blacks to take the rear seats and the whites the front, the patronage of the colored people had fallen off from 50 to 75 per cent.

Quite contrary to expectations, the negroes do not take to the new law at all and seem to have organized to resist the provision. There does not seem to be so much objection to sitting to themselves as there seems to be to the intimation that they are not wanted. The street car people cherished the hope that the arrangement would be more satisfactory to both races, but it seems to be not so and the colored people appear to be withdrawing their patronage.

Several conductors with whom a reporter talked yesterday said that whereas on Saturdays and Sundays the colored patronage is usually equal to or more than that of the whites, there are now comparatively few negroes riding on the cars at all and the reports of cash fares collected are showing it very materially. One conductor said the receipts had been cut one-half and still another said that was not far from right.

The street car people say, however, that temporary boycott is always the result of such action in separating of the races; that it was true in Richmond and Norfolk, but that eventually the colored people took a more sensible view of the situation and the separation of the races finally worked out with satisfaction to all concerned. The colored travel on the suburban line is not sufficiently large to show any change under the new regulations.

MR. TAYLOR MISQUOTED

His Banquet Reference to Use of Money in Elections.

Editor Star.—In your Sunday's issue "Taxpayer" in referring to my remarks before the recent banquet of the Merchants' Association, says that the newspapers reported me as having charged "that more money had been used in the recent municipal primary than ever before in the history of the city." If the newspapers so reported me I was misquoted.

I stated that it was common rumor that money had been illegitimately used, and condemned in strong terms practice of vote buying as debasing to our citizenship. I had no personal knowledge of the truth of the reports, and referred to the incident to illustrate the need for business men to take an enlarged view of their duties to the public.

"Taxpayer" says that "it is reported that money is being used amongst the purchasable element of the city to defeat the proposition to establish a Recorder's Court." I hardly think this likely, but would condemn with equal severity the buying of votes, or other illegal practice, by the taxpayers whose interest it is to defeat the bill, or by the would-be office holders whose interest it is for the bill to carry. There must always be a substantial incentive for illegal methods. For the bill to be defeated would be a small saving individually to the taxpayers—for it to carry would be a large gain to the candidates. The taxpayers have no adequate incentive, and the reputation of the candidates forbids the suggestion.

MR. MALLARD SUCCEEDS.

Territory of Late T. H. Thompson With Eagle Paper Co.

It will be news of interest to the many friends of Mr. J. H. Mallard, both in this city and throughout the State, to know that he will succeed the late T. H. Thompson as traveling salesman for the Eagle Paper Company, of Richmond, Va., in this territory. Mr. Mallard has been for 26 consecutive years with the J. C. Stevenson Company and its predecessors in this city, and is well known through this section. He is a clever gentleman and a fine salesman. He leaves this morning for Richmond and will then take his territory, traveling North and South Carolina, which is the same territory as that covered with such signal ability by Mr. Thompson. Mrs. Mallard will accompany her husband to Richmond and while away they will visit the Jamestown Exposition. Mr. Mallard's many friends here will be glad to know that he will continue to make Wilmington his headquarters. He has perhaps the choice of the many traveling positions in this State and his friends will congratulate him upon his new connection.

New Flat Cars for A. C. L.

The Florence Times of Saturday afternoon has the following: "The Coast Line has received a large part of the order of 500 flat cars, which ought to be mighty good news to the lumber men. The cars are fine looking, strongly built and provided with all the newest patents and safety appliances. They are being distributed by the trains now to points where they are needed."

Funds for Orphanage.

Rev. J. N. Cole, the superintendent, made two strong appeals to the Methodists of the city Sunday for the support of the orphanage of the church at Raleigh and it is gratifying to know that there were liberal responses from all congregations. Rev. Mr. Cole spoke at Grace Church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and at Fifth Street Church at night.

He Wins the Palm.

Many stories have been told of mean men, such as he who used a wart for a collar button and he whose birthday gift to his son consisted in washing the windows so that the lad might watch the cars go by. This man, however, seems to have won the palm. There was an extremely mean man in New Hampshire who was the proprietor of a hotel. By his direction rules were posted in the hostelry forbidding almost every conceivable privilege to those not guests of the place. There was absolutely no chance for the casual loafer to get newspapers, pens, ink, stationery, etc. There were not even free seats in the office. One day he chanced to observe a chronic loafer gazing at the old clock that hung on the wall. The next day a sign was placed over the clock. It read, "This clock is for the use of the guests of the hotel only."—Success Magazine.

Prodigate Spendthrifts.

The wealth of many of the ancient Romans was reckoned far into the millions. Mark Antony during his somewhat checkered career squandered no less than $725,000,000, and Tiberius left at his death over eighteen millions, which Caligula spent in less than a year. Records show that this spendthrift paid $150,000 for one supper. Horace tells us that Pegellus, a singer, could in five days spend $40,000, and Clodius on a small wager swallowed a pearl worth nearly $40,000. The estate of Crassus was valued at $8,400,000. Lucullus dined at the rate of $8,000 a meal for several weeks. Lentulus was worth not less than sixteen millions, and Apicius squandered nearly five millions of dollars in a few weeks.

Irritating Americanisms.

One of the most irritating of Americanisms is the use of "limb" for "branch." "Limb" for "leg" has always been accepted as an Americanism, but what is the matter with "branch"? Careful Anglophile writers are beginning now to reintroduce this latter word, but "limb" has hitherto been the transatlantic word with all authors. If it is also old English we shall not mind so much, but is it? The joke of the verse is at least 1,300 years old, but how old is the English version?—London Chronicle.

Must Be Good.

Paisantini offered in payment of a bill a gold piece which had a suspicious ring. "Here, you've given me one of those false coins that the counterfeiters have just been arrested for making," said the merchant. "Impossible," answered Paisantini. "It is dated 1863. If it were false, surely it would have been found out before this."—Gaulois.

A Marriage Lottery

(Original.)
In Smolensk, Russia, marriage is really a lottery. Four times a year a prize is drawn there in the matrimonial market. Five thousand tickets are sold at a ruble a ticket. The winner of the 5,000 rubles is bound to marry a certain girl. Should the girl decline to marry him they may divide the money between them. In case the man is already married he may turn over the money and the matrimonial prize to any friend he may select.

One day a traveler stopped in the town and, hearing of the lottery, gave a servant 10 rubles and told him to buy ten tickets. The drawing was to take place that evening, and after supper the stranger strolled around to the building appointed for the purpose.

The wheel was turned and a paper drawn. He who drew it held it up, looked at it and said:

"The winner is Dmitri Waronovich."

The stranger started. Every one looked at every one else. No one seemed to know who Dmitri Waronovich was.

"If Dmitri Waronovich is here, let him come forward."

The stranger advanced and after some questioning was credited with the money and conducted to the home of the girl he had drawn.

Mirza Dovenieff was of a station far beyond those who would usually put themselves up to be raffled for. A fancy for such a role had taken possession of her, though she had no idea of marrying the man who should draw the prize of which she was a part. Nevertheless there is a fascination in meeting one never before seen who is to be something more to us than a stranger and maybe of immense importance. Naturally Mirza had dreamed of many different kinds of men and that at their meeting he who had won her would be made to wed her. These, of course, were merely dreams, for she knew the class that bought tickets in the lottery and had no doubt she would divide the money prize with the winner and remain a spinster—at least for him.

It was certainly an exhilarating moment for these two when the door separating them opened and they stood face to face, Mirza's heart beating like a trip hammer.

"You are a stranger here," she said. "I am. I arrived this afternoon. I bought some tickets to the lottery and, singularly enough, won."

"I suppose you know the conditions?"

"The only condition I know is that I have won a wife."

"You are mistaken. I have the privilege of dividing the money prize with you and remaining single."

"May I ask why one of your class entered for this lottery?"

"For a new sensation. And you—why did you buy tickets?"

"For a new sensation."

"Are you quite sure the hope of winning the money was no inducement?"

"I shall resign my share of the money to you."

"And I have resolved to give my share to the poor."

"Singular," said the man wondering, "that two people among 5,000 should have been captivated by a whim and the man in the case should have won."

"Remarkable, especially since you do not live here."

"I never was here till a few hours ago."

"You reside?"

"In Tula when I am at home, but I am seldom at home."

During the dialogue the couple remained standing, but suddenly it occurred to the lady that she was treating the man who had won her very coldly, and she asked him to be seated. They sat for refreshments. It was late when the fortunate man left the house, and on reaching his inn he was besieged by a throng to know if there would be a wedding or a division. He announced that there would be neither. The 5,000 rubles were to be given to the poor. This was done the next morning.

The curious people of Smolensk had forgotten all about the singular outcome of the drawing when it was revived by the appearance of the winner of the prize in the town. He looked somewhat thinner than before and careworn. He came frequently after that, always looking more distraught than before. Finally at one of his visits he departed looking radiantly happy. The next day the townspeople were agog at the announcement that the couple who had won 5,000 rubles and given them to the poor were to be married after all.

The groom prospective told his fiancée that after their marriage they would live in his home in Tula; that he had held a government position, but his marriage, for some reason he did not explain, required him to resign it. She was about to marry him for love, but since he assured her he could support her, was respectable and she had some property of her own she did not inquire thoroughly into his social or monetary condition.

The wedding over, with its peculiar Russian customs, the couple were about to depart for Tula when a telegram addressed to Count Odendoff was handed to the groom to know if he knew any such person. He tore it open, read it and handed it to the bride. It was an order from the emperor to return to St. Petersburg at once and ended, "Your marriage will be recognized."

Then the recipient explained to his bride that he was of blood royal, but not of near kin, and in the service of the emperor, who had doubtless found he could not get on without his assistant.

SALARIES OF RURAL CARRIERS.

Detailed Adjustment Approved by the Postmaster General.
(By Wire to the Morning Star.)
Washington, April 28.—Postmaster General Meyer has approved the detailed adjustment of salaries of rural free delivery carriers, as submitted by Assistant Postmaster General DeGraw, and the new schedule which will be made effective July 1 next will make a graded increase in the compensation of carriers of from 9 to 35 per cent, based upon the number of miles traversed by carriers as shown by the records of the Department. The readjustment adopted with the increase of upwards of $6,000,000 made in the appropriation by Congress, will involve an aggregate expenditure for rural service during the next fiscal year of nearly $35,000,000.

Fonville may give bond shortly. The district attorney charges conspiracy and alleges that Fonville drew at least eight thousand dollars from the Charlotte National Bank on the strength of a deposit slip made out in his name by Frank H. Jones, who is now in hiding, after having appropriated seventy-two thousand dollars of the bank's resources.

—Columbia, S. C., April 27: Clinton J. Holyrod, an engineer in the employ of J. L. Ludlow, was drowned this afternoon at the new water works plant, recently completed by Ludlow and not yet turned over to the city. Holyrod attempted to walk along a narrow ledge to the filter house and either missed his footing or had an attack of vertigo, falling into the filter basin. He did not cry out or struggle, and when taken from the water, some time later was dead. He was from Waltham, Mass., 35 years old and was married December, 1905, to Miss Della Horne, of Tarboro, N. C. His wife is now in Tarboro.

—Warrenton, April 27: A white man was arrested here tonight under a warrant charging him with obtaining money under false pretense and defrauding a number of people in the community, principally colored people. He claimed to represent a Chicago firm and would sell goods greatly below cost and collect what cash payment he could in advance, the goods to be sent by freight. He would represent to sell meat for six dollars per hundred. When arrested he gave his name as A. J. Cook. He is about 5 feet 9 inches; weight about 175 pounds; right leg a little short; clean shaven and round face. The man is evidently a crook and may be wanted elsewhere.

—Winston, N. C., April 27: A telegram was received here today from the chief of police of Danville, Va., asking the officers to look out for and arrest Clarence Jarrett, a ten year old white boy, who was carried off from Danville by a blind shoe-string peddler. Chief of Police Thomas notified the blind man referred to in the Danville telegram to leave town yesterday. The Jarrett boy was with him. The officers here were asked by a Wilkes county magistrate to arrest Ernest Rush, a white man, on the charge of kidnapping a child. Investigation revealed that Rush passed through this city with the child before the telegram was received from Wilkes and that he bought tickets from here to Indiana.

—Charlotte, April 27: Judge George Washington Ward administered a decided rebuke to the sentiment that talks of the unwritten law in his charge to the jury in the J. T. E. Kimball case today. The judge said that he possessed no sentiment favorable to the so-called unwritten law, and that in this State no such law would be recognized in the courts. Kimball, however, was set at liberty upon the judge's charge to bring in a verdict of not guilty. Kimball killed Jim Stinson after the latter had attempted to cruelly assault the defendant's wife. The judge said Kimball had the right to pursue Stinson to arrest him, and to use such force as was necessary to protect his own person from attack by Stinson. The recital of the attempt as made by the defendant's wife was tragic and exciting in the extreme.

—Morganton, April 28: On Friday night, the 19th instant, a young fellow named Hoke came to the candy shop of J. W. Vaughn at this place and asked Vaughn to take a drink of whiskey with him. He at first refused, but Hoke insisted and Vaughn finally drank the whiskey. Soon thereafter he was taken desperately sick and but for the prompt arrival of a physician would have died. He was relieved, however, for the time being, and went to his home at Hildebran, fifteen miles from here last week. The poison had, however, penetrated his system and he began to grow worse and continued so until last night he died. Hoke was arrested and is held in Burke jail on the charge of murder. It is stated that he is of unsound mind and is not responsible for his acts. Whether this is true or not remains to be seen. Vaughn was a quiet peaceable citizen and had built up quite a nice trade here in the manufacture of homemade candies. He leaves a wife and several children.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, April 29.—The cotton market was less active today but after a lower opening rallied quite sharply with July selling at a net high point for the bull movement in the early afternoon. The close was steady at a net advance of 3 to 9 points. Sales for the day were estimated at 150,000 bales. The opening was barely steady at a decline of 4 to 6 points under scattering liquidation and some selling for a turn by local bears as a result of lower Liverpool cables and better weather over the week end. It was

May notice day and notices for about 15,000 bales were circulating which added to the uncertainty early, but there was little or no May offering on the call and the market steadied up shortly afterward on covering and bull support, prompted by bullish private reports concerning new crop prospects. The advance was strengthened later by the forecast for colder and unsettled weather in the western belt and around midday one of the local firms issued a bullish report indicating that the increase in acreage would not be over 5 per cent against last month's expected increase of 7 per cent. July sold at 10 cents soon after this report was issued and while there was a good deal of realizin in the later session the close was within a point or so of the best. Southern markets were generally steady but unchanged. Exports for the day were away over the port receipts and the total exports for the season are about 1,100,000 bales in excess of last year's to this time.

Receipts at the ports today 11,549 bales against 12,796 last week and 26,902 last year. For the week 65,000 against 70,640 last week and 93,982 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 2,092 against 4,318 last year and at Houston 1,509 bales against 981 last year.

Spot cotton, steady; middling uplands, 11.30; middling gulf, 11.55; sales, 200 bales. Futures closed steady.

SELMA CASE LOST BY COAST LINE

Supreme Court of United States
Affirms North Carolina's Highest Court.

REGULATION OF SCHEDULES

Court Holds That North Carolina Corporation Commission Can Compel Railroads to Run Trains to Accommodate Traveling Public.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)
Washington, April 29.—The Supreme Court of the United States today decided in effect that the Railroad Commissioners of the State of North Carolina can compel a railroad company operating in that State to so adjust its schedule to accommodate passengers on other lines from any particular part of the State. The opinion was delivered by Justice White in the case of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company vs. the Corporation Commission of North Carolina. The case arose out of an order issued by the commissioners directing the railroad company to make connection at Selma at 2:25 P. M., with a train on another line running from the eastern part of the State, with the object of accommodating passengers whose destination was Raleigh. The railroad company resisted the order on the ground that it could not be complied with without putting on special train which would involve extra expense. This, it was also contended, amounted to taking property without due process of law. The commission justified its course on the ground that compliance with the order was necessary to accommodate a large part of the public. The Supreme Court of North Carolina held against the railroad company and its decision was affirmed by today's action of the Supreme Court of the United States on the ground that the order of the commission does not affect rates but is a proper act of State regulation. Justice White discussed at length the contention of the railroad company that the case involved rates in any way and said:

"This case does not involve enforcement by a State of a general scheme of maximum rates, but only whether an exercise of State authority to compel a carrier to perform a particular and specified duty is so inherently unjust and unreasonable as to amount to the deprivation of property without due process of law or a denial of the equal protection of the laws. In a case involving the validity of an order enforcing a scheme of maximum rates, of course the finding that the enforcement of such scheme will not produce an adequate return for the operation of the railroad, in and of itself, demonstrates the unreasonableness of the order. Such, however, is not the case when the question is as to the validity of an order to do a particular act, the doing of which does not involve the question of the profitability of the operation of a railroad as entirety. But even is the rule applicable to an entire rate scheme were to be here applied, as the findings made below as to the net earnings, contain us to conclude that adequate remuneration would result from the general operation of the rates in force, even allowing for any loss occasioned by the running of the extra train in question, it follows that the order would not be unreasonable even if tested by the doctrine announced in Smyth vs. Ames and kindred cases."

"It does not directly involve any question whatever of the power to fix rates and the constitutional limitation controlling the exercise of that power, but is concerned solely with an order directing a carrier to furnish a facility which it is a part of its general duty to furnish for the public convenience. The distinction between an order relating to such a subject and an order fixing rates coming within either of the hypotheses which we have stated is apparent. This is so because as the primal duty of a carrier is to furnish adequate facilities to the public, that duty may well be compelled, although by doing so as an incident some pecuniary loss from rendering such service may result. It follows, therefore, that the mere incurring of a loss from the performance of such a duty does not in and of itself necessarily give rise to the conclusion of unreasonableness, as would be the case where the whole scheme of rates was unreasonable under the doctrine of Smyth vs. Ames or under the concessions made in the two propositions we have stated. Of course, the fact that the furnishing of a necessary facility ordered may occasion an incidental pecuniary loss is an important criterion to be taken into view in determining the reasonableness of the order, but it is not the only one. As the duty to furnish necessary facilities is coterminous with the powers of the corporation, the obligation to discharge that duty must be considered in connection with the nature and productiveness of the corporate business as a whole, the character of the services required, and the public need for its performance."

PACKING HOUSES LOST ON APPEAL

Four Concerns Have to Pay $15,000 Each For Accepting Freight Rebates.

THEY VIOLATED ELKINS ACT

United States Court of Appeals Holds That It Makes No Difference Whether Rebate is Direct or By Subterfuge.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)
St. Paul, Minn., April 29.—Judge Sanborn today filed the opinion of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, which he had written, affirming the judgment of the United States District Court for the Western District of Missouri, against the packers, for accepting concessions of twelve cents per hundred pounds from the portion of the established rate for the transportation of provisions on through bills of lading from Kansas City to Christiania and other points in foreign countries. Judges Hook and Adams concur in the opinion. The lower court imposed a penalty of $15,000 on each of the indicted firms and these fines have been affirmed. The defendants involved in the decision are: Armour Packing Company; Swift & Co.; Morris & Co., and the Cudahy Packing Company.

These cases are the first of the so-called rebate cases brought by the United States against the packers to be determined by the Appellate Court and will form the basis for future action until the Supreme Court reviews the decision.

—Raleigh News and Observer, April 28: Governor Glenn returned yesterday from Norfolk where, with his staff, he attended the opening exercises of the Jamestown Exposition. While there he met Lieutenant Victor Blue, who is now at Newport News, and expressed the hope that he would accept the invitation tendered by the North Carolina Monument Committee to be presented as a guest of honor at the unveiling of the statue of Ensign William Bagley in Raleigh on May 20th. Colonel Charles E. Johnson, who was present with the Governor, invited Lieutenant Blue and Mrs. Blue to be the guests of Colonel and Mrs. Johnson while in Raleigh, and the invitation was accepted. Lieutenant Blue was appointed from South Carolina to the Naval Academy, but he is a native of Robeson county, N. C. The four young Southern men who won most reputation in the Spanish-American war were Hobson, who will be the orator on the Twentieth of May; Bagley, whose statue will be unveiled; Ship, who will be represented by his widow and sons; and Blue, who will be present as a guest of honor.

At noon yesterday L. D. Strong, manager of a large mercantile store in Macon, Ga., walked into the printing office of Henry D. Smith and shot him five times. While the tragedy was being enacted the grand jury found an indictment against Smith for seduction of Miss Lillian Strong, sister of the slayer, who had been working for Smith. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

ENRAGED LOVER SHOT SWEETHEART

Comely Prussian Girl Instantly Killed By Man Who Committed Suicide.

FOLLOWED HER FROM EUROPE

In Prussia She Refused to Marry Him and He Almost Slew Her With Hatchet and Cut His Throat.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)
Philadelphia, April 29.—Martha Korals, a comely Prussian girl, was shot and instantly killed here today under unusual circumstances by Franz Endrukut, an enraged lover, who after murdering the girl sent a bullet into his own brain, inflicting a wound from which he cannot recover. Endrukut, who was angry because the girl would not marry him, followed her to this country from the province of Pomerania, in Rhenish Prussia, where four years ago he attempted to kill her by beating her over the head with a hatchet. After this attempt he cut his throat in an effort to end his life and after lying for four months in a hospital, according to the information given to the coroner, he was sentenced to one year and eight months imprisonment. How he got into this country with a penal record has not been ascertained.

After the assault in Europe, Miss Korals, who was the daughter of a physician and a school teacher, came to Philadelphia. Endrukut, despite the refusal of the girl to marry him in his native country, followed her to America and to Philadelphia. He went to work at Cramp's shipyards and boarded in the northern section of the city. Miss Korals, secured a place as maid in the home of August Ramstein, in the southern section of the city.

Endrukut met the girl by chance in the street on Easter and immediately endeavored to renew his attentions. He was repulsed. He followed her about and threatened to kill her unless she married him. Finally Miss Korals caused a warrant to be issued for his arrest, but at the last minute she declined to prosecute him.

Endrukut today met Miss Korals and followed her from the home of her employer to a nearby bakery and again pressed his suit. The girl told him she would sooner die than marry him, whereupon he drew a revolver and sent two bullets into her brain. He then turned the weapon upon himself and sent one of the leaden missiles into his head, falling unconscious across the body of the girl. Endrukut is 33 years of age and his victim was 22.

We get it from the Norfolk Landmark that "Mrs. Alice tone Blackwell avers that Utah is the State for her sex, because they pay women teachers out there the same salaries as men, and let the women vote." Of course, that was to be expected of the Mormons. Women always were their long suit.

Remarks the Norfolk Landmark: "What puzzles us is how they got Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson into the Peace Pow-Wow." Capt. Hobson is none of your individual to be lying low, when there's any likelihood to be taken advantage of. Hobson's choices are numerous and varied. Hobson is all right.

Monster Spider Crabs.

"I have collected specimens of crabs in all parts of the world," said a naturalist, "but I shall never forget the pleasure I experienced in securing a monstrous specimen of the Japanese spider crab, the largest ever found. The combined length of the feeding arms of this monster was more than twelve feet, while the body portion was about twenty inches across. When alive, it weighed about seventy-five pounds. One of the oddest things about these creatures is their ability to assume a disguise. This feat they are able to perform owing to the flexibility of their pinchers and to the hooked hairs and spines with which their numerous arms are studded. By means of their pinchers they tear off small fragments of sponges and seaweeds. After first putting these to their mouths, which contain a glutinous saliva, they place them on the surface of their limbs and bodies by sticking them fast with a rubbing movement. By this method the crab succeeds in completely changing its appearance and rendering itself indistinguishable from the materials common to the bottom of the sea. While crawling along it seems as though a portion of the ocean bed was in motion, so close is the resemblance."

Forests of Stone.

Stone forests are found in various parts of the world. In many cases they are hardened by some peculiarity of the atmosphere and are found standing just as they were when clothed with green foliage thousands of years ago. The Little Colorado river, in Arizona, has long been famous as a locality for such finds. At one place more than 1,500 cords of solid stone, tree trunks, sections, limbs and logs, were found by the government surveyors. Most of them were silicified, many seven to ten feet in diameter and from twenty to eighty feet in height. Geologists say that the petrified trees of the Little Colorado were once covered with marl over 1,000 feet in depth. Some of the trees have been changed to Jasper and have assumed various hues; others resemble opal, and when broken open the core is often found lined with crystals of the most beautiful tints.
